GC bonds will prevent home mortgage squeeze

By GARY SCHNEIDER

of the Press-Record

Granite City residents thinking about purchasing a home should apply quickly for loans, authorities said today.

Money to be made available from relatively low-interest mortgage bonds being sold by the city this month will be the cheapest—and possibly the only—money available for home mortgages for some time, financial experts here agree.

Initially, 50 to 100 families are to be accommodated, with additional numbers served in 1980.

There has been a large response, and many applications have been filed, it was learned.

Melvin C. Wilmsmeyer, president of First Granite City National Bank, said that most banks, including First Bank, are not accepting applications now for home mortgages, except for those to be

Rededicate city hall, library

Fifty years have passed since the completion of the City Hall and Public Library in Granite City, and the occasion will be appropriately noted this fall.

Rededication of the two buildings is planned for Saturday afternoon, Nov. 3. Brief ceremonies are to be conducted starting at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 3 on the front lawn of the City Hall, Niedringhaus and Edison avenues at 20th Street. If the weather is unfavorable, the location will be the main floor of the City Hall.

Immediately after the ceremonies, and continuing until 4 p.m., the library and city hall will be the scenes of open house tours by the public.

Both structures date back to 1929 but have been remodeled at various times. The library is at 20th Street and Delmar Avenue, a block west of the city hall.

Gene H. Sternberg, a Granite City building contractor, will serve as

TODAY'S COLLEGE STUDENT has different concerns. Zachary S. Hanrahan, Granite City, is representative of today's older college student. A senior majoring in English, he holds down a full-time job while getting his education. Family responsibilities will keep him out of classes this fall, but the dock foreman for an over-the-road freight system in St. Louis plans to drop back into college during the winter quarter.

Postpone vote on collection issue

Granite City Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer, chairman of the city council's ambulance committee, said Sunday there will be no action this week on a proposal that collection of overdue ambulance bills be turned over to Illinois Repossession and Collection Agency of Granite City.

Whitmer said that before recent articles in the Press-Record appeared, he had turned the matter over to some city personnel to investigate.

"We will not be acting on this thing at Tuesday night's council meeting, because we do not have the reports back yet," Whitmer said.

The Press-Record has asked whether the business would operate from an area zoned only for residential use.

The manager of the company has been sued twice for allegedly failing to remit funds collected to some of his clients, court records indicate.

Gulf executive will speak

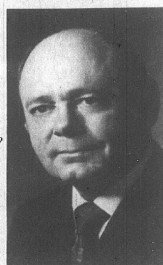

L. Hill Bonin Jr., executive director of the Washington Office for Gulf Oil Corp., will be the guest speaker at the Oct. 24 meeting of Beta Gamma Sigma at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Admission is free and public attendance for the event is being encouraged, according to Gary P. Epps, president of the Edwardsville chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma. Time will be reserved for questions from the audience, he said.

Bonin joined Gulf in 1964 in the chemicals department and he served for a time in Tokyo, Japan, where he was promoted to vice-president of chemicals for the Asia Region in 1966.

In 1969 he became executive vice-president of Korea Gulf Oil Co. in Seoul and was named president of that company in 1971.

Since, he has served as executive vice-president of Gulf Oil Trading Co., president of Gulf in Asia and president of Gulf in the Middle East.

L. HILL BONIN

He has been involved in management in petroleum and chemical operations here and overseas since 1952. He is a native of Lake Charles, La.

The public meeting will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 24, in the old school of business area of the University Center at SIUE.

House plant techniques instruction

The Granite City Park District is offering a two-part series on growing house plants.

Wayne Siefert, horticulturist and area adviser from the University of Illinois, will present a session on Tuesday, Oct. 23, and Tuesday, Oct. 30. The discussion will be from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Nameoki Recreation Center.

Both sessions will include growing hints, such as proper watering and lighting and how to care for plants in general.

The first night, the topic of discussion will be "Apartment Plants and Office Plants." The second night will deal with "Weird and Poisonous Plants."

Siefert will bring along several plants to display that will help simplify his explanation.

"The main problem people seem to have in growing plants indoors is lack of light and proper watering. These things will be thoroughly discussed and examples of both problems will be displayed."

A question and answer period will follow the discussion and several plants will be given away.

"Anyone with 'problem' plants should feel free to bring it along and have it analyzed," Siefert says.

The classes are free, but registration is necessary at the Wilson Park office.

Sons of the Revolution to organize

On Wednesday, Oct. 24, at 7:30 p.m. at the Illinois Power Co., 1050 West Blvd., Belleville, there will be an organizational meeting to form a Metro-East Chapter of SAR, The National Society, Sons of the American Revolution.

Dr. Donald L. Worley has been appointed the organizing president of the proposed local chapter by the Illinois State Society SAR. Dr. Worley, who reside in Belleville, is a past president of the Missouri State Society SAR.

He is presently serving as state treasurer, Missouri, and he is the historian-elect of the Illinois State Society, holding membership in both Missouri and Illinois. Dr. Worley is also a national committee chairman in SAR.

Any male 18 years or older who believes he is descended from a patriot of the American Revolution, 1776-1783, is invited to attend. To become a member of the SAR, one must be able to document his family tree back to the American Revolution.

The Revolutionary ancestor who contributed to the American cause in some patriotic way makes a descendant eligible for membership in SAR.

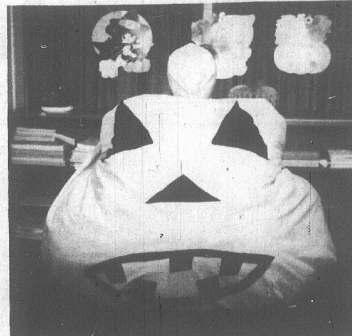

"Simply taking an oath of allegiance to the United States denounces allegiance to British rule. There are many other patriotic capacities which, if one can document, will qualify a descendant for membership in SAR," a spokesman said.

The SAR was founded in 1889. Its objectives are historic, educational and patriotic, preserving and protecting the American way of life.

The SAR closely parallels the DAR (Daughters of the American Revolution). Area DAR members will be in attendance at the organizational meeting to assist prospective SAR members with their lineage questions.

Wives of prospective SAR members also are welcome to attend, Dr. Worley reports.

necessary for his degree. Last fall, he began going to school during the day and worked evenings as a dock foreman for Commercial Lovelace Freight System in St. Louis.

Familial responsibilities will keep Hanrahan out of college this fall. However, he plans to drop back into the campus environment during the winter quarter.

The road from freshman registration to graduation has been littered with potholes and detours. Looking back over the circumstances that drove him to college two years ahead of the average college freshman, Hanrahan said he finished high school at the age of 16 and was sent away to college shortly afterward. "It was too soon," he said.

Hanrahan said he was too immature to fit into the campus scene. He fit neither scholastically nor socially. "What girl wants to go out with a 16-year-old boy?" he asked.

Hanrahan first attended a junior college in his home state of Texas. After a stint in the Army, he took advantage of the educational benefits provided by the GI bill and enrolled in classes at Sam Houston State Teachers College (which later dropped "Teachers" from its name).

The benefits failed to cover living expenses and debt Hanrahan had incurred before the school session got under way. After one semester, he was forced to "stop out" of school and go back to work.

The desire to extend his schooling remained with the Texan. He was determined he would do something about it.

While working as a traffic clerk for Falstaff Brewing Co. in Texas, Hanrahan received encouragement from a couple of junior executives who were taking courses at the University of Houston.

"Except for several hardship periods when I had to moonlight, I have been going to school at night ever since," he said.

In the beginning, Hanrahan took courses relating to general topics and business. "I got kind of heavy into the management side of business," Hanrahan said.

Every course has a purpose, he explained, pointing up the fact that some of them deal with objects rather than people. "Courses in some areas, such as accounting, deal with debits and credits. I was more interested in courses that would bring me into closer contact with human beings," Hanrahan commented.

"I like people," he added. He feels that the knowledge he has obtained through business and English courses have helped to improve the quality of his life. "My education has carried me to where I am now," he said.

Creative writing course have given him sharper skills in communicating with others. His interest in writing short stories and poetry began as a child.

Hanrahan feels his writing is a success when it moves a reader emotionally. "If it is a sad thing I have written, it is important that I make you cry. If it is funny, I want to make you laugh," he said.

It may seem strange that a man caught up in a world of over-the-road carriers and their cargo would be interested in poetry and philosophical matters. Hanrahan doesn't think it odd at all.

His two major interests complement one another. One scenario provides him with bread and butter for his table; the other is food for his soul.

Hanrahan's wife, a nurse, used a goodly portion of her earnings working at a hospital to publish some of her husband's poetry. She could not have given him a more appreciated gift.

"Lord, Listen to a Layman's Prayer," published by Carlton Press, contains a generous selection of works reflecting his philosophical outlook on life.

Hanrahan took a break this summer and did not attend classes. Being out of school sharpens his eagerness to return to the campus. "I was in it. Something was missing in my life," Hanrahan said.

He feels that an academic environment provides a positive element to his life that cannot be derived from any other source.

"Because part of my day is spent doing what I enjoy doing, the rest of my living goes better. I am refreshed."

What is in the future for the dock foreman once he gets his degree? Hanrahan isn't sure, but he is positive about one thing. He will continue to enjoy the educational opportunities offered by institutions like SIUE.

Attaining the degree doesn't mean he has reached the end of his quest for knowledge, but rather that he has reached one more rest stop in his trek along life's highway. "The degree is really just a way of opening other doors," he is convinced.

Plan flat rate for sewer users
Users of new sanitary sewers being constructed in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships will be charged a flat rate per month for sewage treatment.

The committee initially had been considering charging sewer users $2 for each 1,000 gallons of water used per month.

The question of whether it was fair to charge persons sewage treatment fees for water which did not go into the sewers—such as water used for washing cars and watering lawns—was first raised in a Forum letter in the Press-Record and was the topic of follow-up interviews and stories.

Committee Chairman Louis Whitsell at first contended the Environmental Protection Agency had mandated that sewer use and treatment fees be assessed on the basis of the amount of water each household purchased.

The committee later decided a flat rate could be charged—the amount to be determined by the outcome of negotiations with Granite City to determine how much the sewer district will be charged for treatment.

A basic question to be resolved is whether the sewer district should reimburse Granite City residents for money they already have spent retiring the bonds on the primary and secondary sewage treatment plants. A surcharge of $10 per quarter was being discussed by city officials for that purpose.

The Lighter Side

All on a Saturday—'wall to wall' fun

I took that Saturday off, deciding that I would lock my camera up and just relax. Believe me, I should have worked. Nothing will wear you out quicker than a well deserved day off.

I had two events planned for myself, a picnic and a dance. I figured I could handle that. I figured wrong.

The day began at 6 a.m., an incredible hour to arise on one's day off. But I was in charge of seeing to it that the groceries made it to the picnic and I had to be at Horseshoe Lake State Park by 8 a.m.

I had a great time, but I overdid, as people tend to do when there's too much food and too many things to do. I threw a frisbee around with the boys and realized very quickly that I am in really bad shape.

I ate a gigantic picnic feast and then played the old egg toss game, and the old balloon race game and a dozen others. I was getting just a bit tired.

The time went quickly. Before I knew it, it was 5 p.m. and I was ready to fall asleep for a year.

The boys were completely frazzled by the day's activities. I had no trouble getting them to go to bed that night.

The dance was to start at 9 and I really wanted to go. My favorite band was going to be playing and no matter how I longed for sleep, I was going to go.

I dragged myself to the dance. I sat at a table with some friends and listened to the music. I was close to falling asleep several times, but determined to stick it out.

I vaguely remember having fun. I was sort of in a fog, but the music was great and the company fine.

It was late when I got home. I had gone past my capacity to tolerate and could not go to sleep. I sat alone in the kitchen and drank coffee, decaffeinated, of course.

I realized a couple of things while sitting there, my eyes burning from lack of sleep. One, I must never schedule a picnic and a dance in the same day, and two... I'm too old for 16 hours worth of fun.

BEST DRAWING in the entire metropolitan St. Louis area for the design of a float for the 1979 St. Louis Veiled Prophet parade went to Madison High School senior Edmund Branch, right. He and his art instructor, Miss Nancy Polson, left, rode in a special car in the parade as honored guests. The design, "The Lost Continent" being prepped upon by a creature with a 14-foot wingspread, proved too intricate to be made into a float.

Henkhaus revamping Ways of aiding Less problems in linking tax collection method aged reviewed college, university credits

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

While the office of Madison County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus is busy processing and distributing taxes collected this year, the county treasurer has been busy studying ways to make next year's collection even faster and smoother, Henkhaus told the Press-Record.

"For one thing, we have to do something about these tax bills. The light blue color is very hard to read and the carbon used to make the copies smears if the tax bill or envelope are scratched," he said.

As an example, he took a copy of an unopened tax bill and ran four fingernails across the envelope. When the envelope was opened, a tax bill with four distinct black lines across it appeared.

"We have had two people working full-time with electric erasers just cleaning up the tax bills so the electronic scanners can read them. All other office employees are supposed to help clean up bills received in their spare time," Henkhaus explained.

"Another problem," he said, "is that next year we are going to have to put what the taxes were this year on the tax bill. The information will all be in the computer, so it won't be hard to obtain, but we will have to design a new tax bill with a place for the previous year's taxes."

The treasurer said he still is wrestling with several problems handed down by the former treasurer, George Musso, including unclear guidelines as to the powers of township tax collectors.

"Only four counties in Illinois still have township tax collectors and in Madison County, only 11 townships still budget for township collectors to collect taxes. Most of those present very little problem, since they put the taxes they collect directly into the county account and mail the receipts to me," Henkhaus said.

"This way we balance their books, run the paid bills through the electronic scanners and distribute the taxes they collect," he stated.

Only two township collectors, Nick Petrillo in Granite City and Steve Lopez in Edwardsville Township, still distribute taxes directly to the taxing bodies. "This causes problems. We can't balance their books immediately and that throws a monkey wrench into the whole system. I am hopeful we can work something out on this before next summer's collections," the treasurer said.

Several taxing bodies have indicated in recent years that immediate distribution of tax monies by township collectors has gotten the money to the districts in financial need faster than the county can distribute the taxes.

The Granite City School District, for example, estimates the township collectors have saved taxpayers thousands of dollars, since rapid distribution of tax funds has kept the district from having to issue during periods prior to when funds would be received from the county treasurer.

Henkhaus said he also has been working hard on investing surplus county funds in certificates and accounts that draw the highest interest. "In the past, we have not taken advantage of certificates available to large depositors, some paying over 10 percent interest now."

"I am not ready to release any figures yet, but I predict that when the report on investments is ready at the end of the fiscal year, the county board will be very happy with the increase in income the county has realized from my investments, even after taking increased interest rates into account," Henkhaus predicted.

service to those with the greatest economic and social needs. He also discussed guidelines for development and implementation of Affirmative Action programs.

Representing the Illinois Department on Aging were Donald Harry, chief fiscal audit secretary, and Dick Klage, Title III consultant supervisor. Harry addressed fiscal accountability procedures and responsibilities and Klage discussed Title III consolidation of nutrition programs.

Pat Gunter, instructor, Social Welfare Division of Social and Community Services, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, presented techniques in improving attitudes and approaches in serving the elderly.

SWIAAOA Executive Director Nancy C. Silvers said, "This type of comprehensive training for our funded projects is one of many sessions to follow, as it enables us to become more effective in the delivery of services to senior citizens."

Less problems in linking college, university credits

More than four-fifths of students who transfer from community colleges to four-year colleges and universities say that they would attend a community college if they were to make the choice again.

In a new report released by the Illinois Community College-Senior College Task Force on Articulation, the conclusion was reached that "community college transfers at senior colleges and universities indicate a high regard and general satisfaction with their experiences at Illinois community colleges."

Other findings of the Task Force were: While some transfer articulation problems do exist, most students appear to transfer from community colleges to senior institutions with few or no problems.

The major problem in accepting credits from community colleges reported by senior institutions is the inclusion of upper-division, professional, or nonbaccalaureate courses in the associate degree programs at the community colleges.

About a third of the transfer students reported that completion of their baccalaureate degree took longer than expected.

However, concerns related to transferring credits and repeating courses are reported to be less serious than in times past.

Jateff's ramble ruins reunion—for South

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY
Granite City North's Pat Jateff took a step backwards just before he hit the 20-yard line. He broke a tackle in the Granite City South secondary, and headed for the left sideline Friday.

It was Jateff followed by two Warriors.

At the 10-yard line South's Tim Phelps lunged at Jateff from behind. It was desperation. Jateff went down, but the damage was done.

Two plays later, Jateff ran from the four-yard line for the Steeler's third touchdown of the night. The score was 21-14.

North went on to beat crosstown rival South by that same score in the first of two meetings between the two this season. The win gives North a 2-0 Gateway East Conference record and 4-3 overall. South drops to 2-1 and 3-3. The two will meet again Oct. 28.

It would have been typical of North-South match-ups for the game to end in a tie. If not for Jateff's shocking ramble, that's likely what would have happened.

Just before the end of the third quarter, South had tied the score at 14 on a 17-yard pass from Blake Ambuehl to Scott Buhman.

In the fourth quarter the football changed hands rapidly, as it had all night long.

North was forced to punt after it found itself back-to-the-goal-line on the two. South's field position after the punt was encouraging, but three plays produced only a yard.

The field goal unit rushed onto the field and promptly missed a 25-yarder. North took over on the 20, and Jateff ran for the goal line.

All this against the backdrop of a drop of end zone to end zone noise.

The well-rehearsed crosstown rivalry was in full force. Needless to say, emotions ran high. It was ominously quiet in the South locker room after the loss. It was as if someone pulled a plug and the noise had washed down the drain.

North scores 4th quarter TD to win

Stan Wojcik, South's head coach, sat with his back against a gym wall. Our pass blocking wasn't bad," he explained. "But trying to run the ball, that was something else."

"We didn't have quick blocks and nobody sustained a block once they made the initial hit."

The result, according to Wojcik, was an adequate passing game, although South did drop eight passes, and a dismal running attack. In an adjacent building, North coach Tom Wyrostek stood in the middle of a circle of Stealers. But he wasn't exactly basking in victory.

"We both made mistakes," he said. "We were running around trying to field punts on the run."

"But we were hyper and they were hyper. These are 16 and 17-year-olds. It's hard not to be."

Between all the mistakes though, there were some remarkably well-executed plays.

North's first touchdown was an illustration. Michael Steen swung out for a slant pass to the sideline. Danny Patterson's pass was behind him, but he gathered it in one-handed, headed down the sideline, broke a tackle and went in for the score.

South's tying touch down was another example. Kevin Greene broke through the Steeler punt formation late in the first half. His arrival coincided with the punter's kick.

The ball bounced off Greene's shoulder onto the turf, where a pile of Warriors covered it.

Mark Marsh ran 17 yards, down to the two-yard line, the next play, and Mark Clark went in for the score.

North's second touchdown was an unusual combination. Patterson threw a well-timed pass towards the left corner of the end zone where Tim Dudley hauled it in over his right shoulder.

Dudley, used to being on the other end of such passes, made his first touch down catch. The switch from quarterback to split end was the result of Dudley's tender throwing arm.

The difference in the game though, according to Wojcik, was South's inability to run with the ball.

"We always play good defense," he said. "It was the run that beat us. We didn't come out passing, that's not what we wanted to do. We wanted to set up sprint outs with runs up the middle."

"We gave a good effort. We were just so close a couple of times. Maybe the kids were just so high they made those mistakes."

Turnovers played an important role in the game, as they do in every close contest. The second touch down was the result of a change in possession.

South scored on the blocked punt.

North put together four plays, and was helped by a South face-mask penalty, when it traveled from the yard line in for its second score.

In all South gave the ball up 3 times, while North had 4 turnovers.

New position, same result

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Tim Dudley wobbled a little as he walked from the field. He wouldn't fully comprehend what had happened until later. Now, he just wanted to sit down.

Dudley had all but ended any chance for a Granite City South comeback against his Granite City North Stealers.

His interception of a Warrior last-ditch pass attempt with seconds left in the game clinched a 21-14 victory for the Stealers, but he had payed for his heroics.

The tackle that brought him down "rang his bell," as the saying goes. After the game his eyes were still somewhat glazed.

It was Dudley's first interception ever. But then, for him, it was a night for firsts. Normally the Steeler quarterback, Dudley started against the Warriors at split end. "I didn't find out till Wednesday that I was going to play split end," Dudley said. "We had been running the wishbone all week because my arm was hurt, so coach just decided to start Danny Patterson at quarterback and figured that I had enough speed to beat their guy at split end."

The results were good.

Patterson found Dudley in the end zone for one of the Stealers' three touchdowns. Early in the game, Dudley had some problems holding to the ball. His disgust was evident as he walked back to the huddle after another ball had slipped off his fingertips. But the touchdown pass made up for those disappointments. "I was really excited, playing in a new position," Dudley said. "And then when I caught the touchdown, it was great."

Dudley also for the first time played free safety on defense. "Coach just told me to go out and read the quarterback. When I saw (South's Blake) Ambuehl look that way, I went over and picked up the receiver," Dudley said. "I was really experience at split end gave him some insight into quarterbacking. I've never run the other."

position before, so when a guy would drop a pass, I would think, 'what's he doing?' Now I have better idea of what he has to do through."

Dudley said he has no idea if he'll continue at the new spots, and it's hard to tell if he wants to go back. "You see more action at quarterback," he said. "But I liked playing split end. I don't know, the positions are very different from each other."

Madison whupped

MADISON — East St. Louis Assumption showed why it is considered one of the top Class 2A prep football powers in the state here Friday night and at the same time kept Madison High coach Charles Steptoe looking for his first prep loss. Assumption ran all over the Trojans 63-0 in a Quad County Conference game.

Steelers fight off Tigers, South shuts out Hazelwood

EDWARDSVILLE
Granite City North's soccer Stealers were surprised by Edwarsville here Saturday. The Stealers won 3-2. The surprise was that the game was so close.

Thanks to Edwarsville's goalie Chris Mackie, the Tigers were able to hold the Stealers close. Mackie made some remarkable saves, while the Tigers slipped in two goals.

Edwarsville made the most of six shots on goal. The game was most definitely North-dominated.

"It was one of those games where you dominate the thing, and get drawn up to on end of the field," North coach Bob Kohoe said. "All of sudden they get a couple of breakaways that end up as goals."

The Tigers held North scoreless during the first quarter, but with about 15 minutes elapsed in the second quarter, North scored two quick goals.

Within a minute, Dan Fitzgerald scored from about ten yards in front of the Tiger net from an assist from Glenn Edwards, then Mark Jones scored unassisted. For a time it looked as if North would quickly bury the Tigers, but Edwarsville's defense continued to hold, despite the Steeler lead.

Then, about halfway through the third quarter, Edwarsville's Steve Blahaus stunned the Stealers with a booming goal from nearly 30 yards out, cutting North's lead in half.

Fitzgerald scored again in the fourth quarter, replacing North's two goal advantage. And once again it appeared North was on the verge of running away.

But Edwarsville's Martin Steffan again shocked North with a breakaway goal just two minutes after Fitzgerald's.

South 5, Hazelwood 0

Granite City South ran all over Hazelwood East Friday on the road. Its 5-0 victory gives it a 14-5 record.

The Warriors led 3-0 at halftime and went on to defeat East 5-0. The above how the Warriors dominated the flow of the game, take a look at a few statistics:

South outshot East 23-1; south had two corners kicks; East one; East had four saves and 12 fouls; south had no saves and seven fouls.

Craig Kester scored twice for South against Hazelwood. Phil Beljanski, David and Andy DeRousse each landed one goal.

On Kester's first goal,

Fernandez got the assist. DeRousse's goal was unassisted. Beljanski was also assisted by Fernandez. South's last two goals were unassisted.

Rosary 3, South 2 (ot)

Thursday night, Powerful Rosary, considered the most explosive team in the St. Louis area, came calling at South. If it was expecting a royals welcome, it was disappointed. The visitors were limping home with a 3-2 win.

The South-Rosary games in the past have been rough-and-tumble affairs. This one was no different. A total of 38 fouls were called in the game. Six cards - four red and two yellow - were handed out by the officials.

The Warriors outshot Rosary 17-12 and had the edge in corner kicks 7-2.

Rosary led at halftime 1-0 and took a 2-0 lead in the fourth period before South put it together. At the 62:11 mark, Fernandez took a Beljanski pass and fired in a goal that cut Rosary's lead in half. Then sophomore David Paz took a pass from fellow-warrior Greg White and put it past the Rosary goalie at the 70:31 mark to knot things up.

Central 4, North 2

After taking a 1-0 lead in the first quarter, North saw it slip out of its grasp when Central scored three times in the second period at home, Thursday.

Bob Batley took an assist from Jones at the 4:34 mark to give the Stealers a short-lived lead.

Central added to its lead with a goal in the third quarter before North scored on a goal by Jones from Fitzgerald at the 69:53 mark. North was outshot 15-14.

Trojans downed

MADISON — The Madison High soccer team played it tough here Saturday, but nonetheless fell to a quick St. Paul of Highland squad 4-2, Thursday. Madison fell to 0-Fallon 7-0.

Against St. Paul, the Trojans fell behind quickly 3-0 after the first period. At the 31:00 minute mark of the second quarter, it was 4-0 on Tim Patek's second goal.

But Madison came back. The Trojans scored at the 36:00 and 65:40 marks of the second half, but could draw no closer. St. Paul outshot the Trojans 28-8.

Houston eighth

ALTON — Granite City South cross country runner Dave Houston finished eighth individually here Friday to help pace his team to a sixth place finish in the annual Alton Invitational Meet.

Alton was the team winner with a total of 66 points, easily outdistancing Springfield Lanphier, which came in second with 93. Prep North of St. Louis had 98, O'Fallon 124, Belleville West 127, South 16, Belleville East 171, Springfield Southeast 192, Jacksonville 206, Granite North 242 and Edwarsville 244.

Houston's time over the course was 15:48. Jim Files of Lanphier was the individual winner in 15:17. Garry Chappell of Alton was second in 15:28. Steve Love of Alton finished just ahead of Houston in 15:47.

Kefalas unassuming, steady

BY KEVIN ALLEN of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — John Kefalas was the last man between the Granite City North goalie and the pack of players around the Edwardsville goal. He was the Steelers' last line of defense before a sudden breakthrough could come racing down the field bearing down on North's keeper Tracy Hickam.

But against Edwardsville, Kefalas didn't have to contend with any Tiger strikers turning a loose ball into a run for the North nets. The action around his fullback position was unusually light. About the extent of his duties was keeping the ball back in

JOHN KEFALAS

North's end of the field when it occasionally cleared the midfield line.

Maybe it's his style of play, or the level of his abilities that is deceiving. He is not flashy.

When a ball comes his way, he takes it surely and steadily. But he hardly ever handles it more than a few yards upfield. Almost uniformly he looks to pass to a teammate.

Many regard Kefalas as the most consistent and steady performers on a team loaded with talent.

Those are obviously people who have seen him play. Others will find little mention of him elsewhere. He rarely scores goals or assists. He leaves that for others.

His is the classic case of the unsung hero.

"I just play," Kefalas said after the Edwardsville game. His speech and manner are as unassuming as his play on the field.

"If I get a chance to score I'll take it, but that doesn't happen often. Besides, we've got the best forwards around."

It doesn't particularly bother Kefalas that his name isn't one regularly mentioned by soccer watchers.

"As long as the team wins, who scores doesn't matter all that much."

"Each player plays his own way. I'm just not that flashy, that's just my style," he said.

Baker seventh at Notre Dame

BLOOMINGTON — Improvement, a quality that every coach hopes his athletes will be familiar with, is a hallmark of the Illinois State University cross country team. Before Coach John Coughlan took over the program three years ago, the ISU course record was 25:07. Today every member of Coughlan's team has bettered that mark.

One of the highlights of Coughlan's short tenure at ISU happened last Saturday at Notre Dame, where Illinois State finished second in a field of 53. The Redbirds trailed only national power Auburn, led by All-American and former Illinois prep star Tom Graves.

Illinois State was led by Mike Baker (Granite City North) who was seventh with a time of 23:48.

Herman Sahneyah (Tuba City, Ariz.), finished second for the Redbirds and 14th overall. Other ISU finishers were Dave Irion (Normal), 18th; Chris Kuntz, Villa Park (Willowbrook), 37th; Jim Galen (Thorndike), 39th.

Gettener wins midget race

GRANITE CITY — The first annual Jack Stroud memorial IMCA national midget championship race held at the Tri-City Speedway Sunday afternoon attracted 47 top midget drivers throughout the Midwest area.

Soccer Cougars zap Zips

AKRON, Ohio — The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer team extended its unbeaten streak to ten Sunday by defeating nationally ranked Akron U-20, on the Zips' home field. Coach Gob Guelker's Cougars are now 10-2-2 for the season and should move up for their 16th national ranking.

Again it was the Cougars' leading scorer, Don Ebert, who pounced on a loose ball at 8:55 into the game and blasted in the first goal and his 16th of the season to give SIUE the lead. The scoring chance came from a handball call against the Zips and Bob Bozada's pass to midfielder, Joey Howe, whose shot on goal was stopped by Akron's keeper, Earnest Conrad. The ball slipped from Conrad's hands and Ebert zapped it in.

At 87-44, the Cougars' Stuart Stevenson scored his third goal of the season from 15 yards out.

Friday, the Cougars stopped a Bowling Green, Ohio, and defeated Bowling Green U. 4-2. Ebert ran wild and scored all four goals. Ebert, now with 22 points (16 goals and six assists) for the season, has a three-year total of 64, four more than Chris Carezza (in four years).

The Zips outshot the Cougars, 20 to 13, held a 4-2 edge in corner kicks, but outfielded SIUE, 21 to 11.

It'll still be on the traveling Cougars, who have played 11 of their 14 games on the road this season, this week as they must invade Quincy College's home field this coming Saturday to furnish the Hawks' their homecoming opposition.

A bright note, though, is the fact that the Cougars' All-American defensive ace, Tim Clark, has played in SIUE's last four games and appears ready to complete the season.

WRAMBLIN' WARRIOR. Granite City South Warrior Lee Heubner (88) collides with Granite North's Roger Bowler Friday night during North's 21-14 victory over South. With the victory, North raised its record to 4-2, while South dropped to 3-3. North is 2-0 in the Gateway East Conference, while South is 2-1.

Alice Geiger bride of Raymond Fyalka

Hope Lutheran Church was the setting for the wedding of Alice Jean Geiger and Raymond Paul Fyalka Jr. on Aug. 18. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Geiger, 1613 Lindell Blvd. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fyalka, 2565 Lynch Ave., are the parents of the groom.

Performing the double ring ceremony were the Rev. David Fielding and the late Father G. Ronald Nesbitt. Organist Sarah Repp and soloist Melanie Asadorian presented "Morning Has Broken," "The Wedding Song," "Devoted to You," "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Bridal Chorus," "The Lord's Prayer," "Song of Ruth" and "The Wedding March."

For her wedding, the bride selected a white A-line organza gown featuring an Empire bodice of Venice lace and accented with pink rosettes.

Pink rosettes also adorned the front panel of the skirt which ended in a ruffle flounce and chapel length train.

She wore a Juliet Venice lace headpiece and a fingertip lace-edged veil. Her flowers were white roses, white and pink rosebuds and baby breath.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Janet Matoesian, a sister of the bride. Kathy Bloese, Patricia and Lori Fyalka, sisters of the groom, and Peggy Smolich attended the bride.

They wore floral print voile gowns in shades of burgundy, grey and pink. The gowns featured blouson bodices and pleated skirts. Pink baby breath was worn in their hair. They carried bouquets of pink roses.

Robert Fyalka served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Rick and Randy Ballew, Larry Miller and James Geiger, a brother of the bride.

David Matoesian, a brother-in-law of the bride, seated the guests.

Mrs. Geiger, the bride's mother, chose a dusty rose colored gown with a scoop neckline and a pleated skirt. The groom's mother, Mrs. Fyalka, wore a blue dress with a lace over-blouse.

Takeover try threatens local voice in health planning

Regional coordination has certain obvious advantages but also some severe disadvantages, the latter being true especially for the half of bi-state regional entities, as Quad-Cityans have learned the hard way in the past.

New regionalism problems are arising, this time in the health field. A just-signed Missouri Certificate of Need Law (a conference committee substitute for House Bill 222) in effect seizes control of bi-state St. Louis metropolitan area health planning, even though in no way could Jefferson City properly speak for or represent the interests of the Illinois counties of Madison, St. Clair, Clinton and Montgomery.

The Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency (HSA) fortunately is aware of the peril and is taking action to defend itself. But it has powerful opposition, including that of St. Louis Mayor James Conway and St. Louis County Supervisor Gene McNary. Often on opposite sides of issues, the two officials are in harmony this time, seeking the right choice of directors.

The HSA and two Illinois residents filed suit Oct. 2 in the U.S. District Court, asking a determination of the constitutionality of several portions of the newly enacted Missouri state law. Defendants are Governor Teasdale, Attorney General Ashcroft, and future members of the Missouri Health Facilities Review Committee, an administrative body to be created by the Certificate of Need Law.

The plaintiffs seek a declaratory judgment that sections of the law violate the U.S. and Missouri Constitutions as well as the Federal National Health Planning and Resources Development Act of 1974, which led to formation of HSAs here and elsewhere.

Additionally, they are seeking to enjoin permanently any enforcement of the challenged provisions which would, among other things, prevent HSA employees and members from using "any state, federal or local funds for lobbying activities."

The thrust of the federal act is the promotion of regional and areawide health planning. Where such a region is a bi-state region, the 1974 act encourages that the resulting mechanism be retained intact for continued health planning. It mandates state-level Certificate of Need verification of health facilities and major equipment legislation as a complement to the federal legislation.

Alphonse J. Lynch, HSA president, notes that the suit alleges that the new Missouri law, rather than complementing the federal act, is inconsistent with it.

The suit argues that the state law seeks to wrest control of bi-state health planning from the HSA, an agency representative of the region as a whole, and that the state is trying to place such power in a governing body composed of a caucus of Missouri mayors, county judges (board chairmen) and other officials.

The plaintiffs say the law would preclude them from filing suit to enjoin, and would force them to arbitrate their contracts and memoranda of understanding with various Illinois entities and divisions of government.

At an Oct. 3 hearing before Federal District Judge Edward B. Filippine, counsel for the governor, attorney general and the other defendants contended that the new Missouri law is defective. They said new legislation will be prepared and promised that none of the defendants would attempt to implement the existing law with respect to the plaintiffs.

This led the judge to rule there is no present need to issue a temporary restraining order; he scheduled further proceedings in the case before Nov. 5. But Conway meanwhile has appointed Betty Libertor, Jan Montgomery, Dr. Leslie F. Bond and Dr. George E. Thomas Jr., and McNary named Norman McMillan and Dr. John Laird to the HSA board.

For four of the same positions, at its annual general assembly Oct. 10, the 2,800-member HSA and its several thousand members in the city of St. Louis, and Sister Betty Brucker and Dr. Leroy W.

Peterson from St. Louis County.

McNary and Conway said they favor picking the 60-member board through caucuses; there have been no such caucuses, but they are scheduled to go ahead with appointments, anyway.

Assuming there is logic in having regional health planning, it is not clear that HSA has made to make the process democratic, informed and logical. On Nov. 8, the agency is scheduled to begin review and approval or disapproval of the final federal funds for development of health resources in its nine-area region. It has the unique role of making virtually final funding decisions, Alexander than forwarding recommendations to Washington. Final regulations for this review program were issued by the U.S. on Aug. 10.

Robert D. Fine, HSA executive director, has released for public comment a draft document listing review policies and procedures and seeking information needed from applicants.

Covered under the review are federal funds for the development, expansion or improvement of health services authorized by the Public Health Service Act, the Community Mental Health Centers Act, the Drug Abuse and Treatment Act and the Alcohol, Abuse, Prevention, Treatment and Rehabilitation Act, plus funds authorized by these acts and allocated to states for disbursement.

This review program is one of four created by the National Health Planning and Redevelopment Act (Public Law 93-641). The others are new institutional health services review, certificate of need review and appropriateness review.

The Greater St. Louis HSA is one of 204 such agencies around the nation. The network of regional health systems is governed by a council of health consumers, health providers and elected officials; elaborate precautions are taken to assure that a full cross-section of the community is represented on the board.

With the four Illinois counties, the HSA serves the city of St. Louis and the Missouri counties of Franklin, Jefferson, St. Charles, St. Louis, and Washington. The review procedures this fall affect all nine areas. Proposals will be assessed as to their: conformance with HSA plans, and representativeness of the community; other services in the area; need by the community; cost-effectiveness, and financial feasibility.

Information about the program and copies of the draft policies and procedures and the information requirements may be obtained from the Project Division, Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency, 915 South Florissant, St. Louis 63101 (telephone 1-314-241-5810). Comments on the draft documents must be in writing and will be accepted until Oct. 21. They are to be submitted to the Project Review Division at the above address.

As is apparent, well-thought-out planning is taking place.

If it takes place to the point where the takeover could be an improvement, since it would go a long way toward establishing political control over the present diverse mix of public and private health institutions.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has advised Missouri that its health facilities and services must meet federal standards. Health planners estimate that Missouri could lose up to $40 million in federal social service and health care funds because of the lack of compliance with U.S. regulations.

Also in danger of being lost is an adequate voice for Madison County and nearby Illinois counties.

The HSA is a private, not-for-profit body with open community membership—far more democratic than if it were a public agency with participation selected through political caucuses.

Illinoisans will need to keep a watchful eye on the court case that has been started. And they may decide to seek protection on health planning issues from their own state legislature.

South Homecoming Week

The halls of Granite City High School, which just prior to 8 a.m. Friday were filled with loud and excited chanting. A pep band played "South Homecoming Week" and the school colors, faculty prepared themselves for the South Homecoming Week which begins today. "Victory" is the theme for the homecoming celebration which will last through Friday. At 7:30 p.m. today a giant bonfire will be built on Wilson Park Diamond Two. Tuesday is "Color Day" and the school halls will be decorated with red and blue, the school colors. South students and many of the faculty will wear red and black clothing.

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" is the homecoming play and will be presented on Wednesday and Thursday evenings in the auditorium at 7:30.

The play, written by George Kaufman and Moss Hart, deals with a man who is invited to the Stanleys' house for dinner. As he reaches the doorstep of the home, he slips and breaks his hip and the whole household is then turned upside down during his lengthy stay.

The play is under the direction of Ron Pennell.

The cast includes John Manogian, Shelly Meahan, Maggie Outley, Ellen Fogie, Lorraine Sheldon and James Blumaine.

Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students.

The crowning of the king and queen will take place both nights directly after the play at about 9:30.

Meet on Y-Indian guides, princesses

Area fathers and their children (kindergarten to 2nd grades) are being invited to attend a second organizational meeting for Y-Indian Guides and Princesses on Thursday, Oct. 18.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Tri-City Area YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., Granite City. This parent-child program, based on Indian lore, originated in St. Louis over 50 years ago and is now nationwide.

It functions in small groups called "tribes" composed of six to eight father-child pairs.

Tribes are organized by age, by grade by school or neighborhood, and usually meet twice a month in the homes of tribal members. Included in the special events planned by the YMCA are a hayride, a YMCA "overnight," and a trip to Mount Lodge near Potosi, Mo.

The annual membership per father-child pair is $15, and $5 for each additional child.

Those unable to attend the meeting but still interested in finding out about the program may call Lucy Tueth at 876-7200.

Pontoon OKs subdivision

The Pontoon Beach Village Board has given its approval to preliminary plans for the construction of a 17-acre subdivision south of Lakeview Estates. The proposed Gemstone Subdivision will include 38 new homes in the $50,000 range over four existing homes and would be completely remodeled and sold.

Oct. 2, the board rejected the preliminary plat with three members voting in favor of approval and two voting against. The motion for approval was rejected.

Concerns expressed at that meeting included the proposed opening of East Lake Drive from Kaseberg Lane to Lakeview Estates, thus creating a "thoroughfare" from Lakeview Estates to Pontoon Road; and the lack of a village subdivision control ordinance to assure that the proposed built-out conformed to village standards and is completed.

Approval of the preliminary plat included the provision that S.G.B. Developers meet the terms of a subdivision control ordinance and the trustees now are preparing.

2 on cycle are injured

David Sawyer, 15, of 540 Margaret Ave., and Mark Donithan, 19, of 512 Margaret Ave., both in Mitchell, were injured when their motorcycle was involved in an accident at Springfield Avenue and Fleming Place in Mitchell at 9 p.m. Saturday.

Sawyer suffered a broken left leg, abrasions to his left elbow and other injuries. Donithan suffered cuts to his left knee and injuries to his right arm and leg.

Rescue workers from the Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department aided them until a Granite City ambulance arrived and took them to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where both were X-rayed and admitted.

the third floor of the Granite City municipal building. Among the guests was retired Appellate Judge George Moran Sr., a former law partner of Beatty.

Numerous attorneys, law clerks, clerks, friends, circuit clerk's office employees and other employees attended the event.

Decorations were designed around the theme of the judge. Beatty drinks almost constantly. Among the gifts he received was a clock set in a mirror which had the advertising slogan "Beatty's Law."

Beatty said he was literally "speechless" over the surprise party, so he made no speeches, except to invite everyone to his swearing-in ceremony.

Judge Beatty, 53, and his wife, Jeanne, have four grown children.

Daughter Mary attends St. Louis University. Son Thomas is a journalist in Keokuk, Iowa, son Steven is in St. Louis U. Medical School and son William S. is an attorney in Granite City.

The new U.S. district judge was born in East St. Louis and attended public schools there.

He completed pre-law preparation at Washington University in St. Louis and then obtained his law degree from St. Louis University School of Law.

He served in the U.S. Army from 1943 to 1945 and was admitted to the Illinois Bar in 1950. He was affiliated in law practice with George Moran Sr. from 1950 to 1953, and from 1953 to 1968 was in partnership in the firms of Moran and Beatty, Moran Beatty and Hiscott, and Beatty and Schooley, all in Granite City.

Mortgages

The two states, along with Arkansas, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York and Texas, are among the states that have the same time because of state laws setting the maximum interest rates. A total of 24 states have interest ceilings now at about 12 percent on most loans.

In the other state mortgage interest rates are approaching 13 percent and may climb to 14 percent before the end of the year, the experts will not predict when it may end.

Wilmseyer said that as soon as Granite City closes the sale of its mortgage bonds, city officials said. About $2 million will be available immediately and the next $2 million will not be released until Jan. 1, 1980.

The remainder is to be released quarterly with the first $1 million on April 1980, $1.5 million on July 1, 1980, and the final release Oct. 1, 1980.

"Obviously, everyone who has applied for a low-interest mortgage loan will not receive it immediately," Wilmseyer said, explaining that some applicants will have to schedule their closings for the next release of funds. In such cases, the opportunity for a family to close at the same time as someone wishing to purchase the family's house may be diminished, he added.

An inflation steps taken by the Federal Reserve Board have led to higher interest rates on conventional mortgages and the limiting of available funds.

The Federal Reserve increases its bank lending rate from 11 to 12 percent and altered the way in which it controls the availability of money and credit.

With the interest rate that high for lending institutions, many curtailed their conventional mortgages.

"We have been rationing mortgage money for some time," Wilmseyer said, explaining that the bank discontinued taking applications for 60 days earlier this year, then resumed making mortgage loans until about 30 days ago when mortgage loans were discontinued again.

"We can only tie up so much in long-term loans. We are still making home improvement loans and short-term loans; but for someone wanting to purchase a home, the city's low-interest mortgage program is an excellent opportunity," Wilmseyer concluded.

Singers to appear here

The Rev. Jeff Smith, pastor of the Community Heights Assembly of God church, Faith and Buxton, has invited the public to attend a special meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p.m.

The guest speakers will be Paul and Nancy Williams, who have brought their ministry in preaching and singing to churches, areawide camp meetings, concerts and youth groups across the nation.

The Williams' record albums rank with some of the top selling gospel recordings. Their music varies from country to contemporary gospel to fit the mood and taste of the audience. Rev. Smith said the Williams are an ordained minister of the Assemblies of God.

The crowning of the king and queen will take place both nights directly after the play at about 9:30.

Abduction fails

A man in a large black auto, possibly a Lincoln, attempted to abduct a 21-year-old Lindell Avenue resident who was walking in the 2600 block of Nameki Road with her baby in her arms at 11:30 p.m. Saturday. The woman said the car stopped and the man got out, grabbed her shoulder and stated, "Get in the car." Just then, a white car stopped nearby and the driver of the black car got back in and drove toward Route 162.

He was described as about 25 to 30 years old, having dark hair to his shoulders and wearing a black leather jacket.

BULLETIN

Illinois Power Co. today turned off the electric power to the offices of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of East Sanitary District and were threatening to turn off power to the district's lift stations, despite their pleas.

The sanitary district owes more than $20,000 to the utility and will be unable to pay the bill until more taxes are received in January, according to attorney Larry Calvo.

Calvo said he is conferring with the Illinois Commerce Commission and either he or the ICC will seek a court order to force the utility to refrain today to prevent the IP from halting power to the pumps, which protect large portions of Madison and St. Clair counties from flooding during heavy rains.

He served as city attorney for Granite City from 1954 to 1962. He was the chief judge of the Third Judicial Circuit in the 1971-72 period.

In May, U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson III recommended Beatty for a vacancy in the federal court district and in July, President Jimmy Carter nominated him for the post. Confirmation by the U.S. Senate followed.

Check ties between robberies

An armed robber, estimated to be 20 to 25 years old, took about $60 to $65 from a clerk at Lehne's Confectionery, 2501 E. 24th St., at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. Police are investigating if the same young man may have been involved in a similar robbery at about two hours later in the county.

The clerk at Lehne's Confectionery said the young robber wore a silk stocking over his head and displayed a black steel small-caliber revolver with a two-inch barrel, raised the robber's head and checked the stocking above his mouth and stated, "Give me your money, hurry."

She complied and the robber forced her and a young man in the store with her onto the floor, saying, "Don't do anything stupid."

He then fled on foot. The young man who had been in the store ran outside and chased the robber, but could not locate him.

The robber was described as about six feet tall, thin, with dark hair, wearing a green and yellow plaid or checked shirt, possibly of a flannel material, which had sleeves which were too short.

Police are investigating a possible link with an armed robbery which occurred at the Party Shop, 5429 Maryville Road, at 9:45 p.m. Saturday, where the robber's description was very similar.

The victim there said the robber also had a mustache and got in a car and drove west. The owner fired four shots at the vehicle, but did not know if he struck the vehicle.

The robber, who was armed with a revolver, took about $100 from the Party Shop.

APARTMENT LOOTED
Sometime between Friday at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Apt. 3 of 405a Madison Ave., Madison, rented by Leonard Wilson, was entered and several items were stolen.

Items missing include a 410 gauge Stevens shotgun, $150 custom made cue stick, a 40 channel Cobra citizen band radio and $200 in assorted fishing equipment.

A.O. Smith's Employee Day celebration

25 years in this community

It was business as usual at A. O. Smith. The pressmen pressed and the welders welded. Parts moved down the lines the way they had for years.

But there was something special that day. The wives and kids, moms and dads, uncles and aunts and cousins would be visiting the plant that day. It was the 25th anniversary of the opening of A.O. Smith's Granite City plant, and there was to be a family day in celebration.

There was a sense of pride all over the plant. Things had been spruced up just a bit and two tents erected near the south gate.

A well planned tour of the facility was under way. While the day shift worked, the night workers took the tour with their families, showing them the place where Dad earns a living.

There was a lot to see. In the first tent there were displays of company products, including the Smith Flyer, built by the company from 1916 to 1919. The red automobile looked more like a go-cart by today's standards.

Directly opposite the Flyer were several new cars, the frames having been built by the employees whose families were taking the tour that day.

At the far end of the tent was a table where two plant employees stood, passing out safety glasses. Everyone going into the plant was required to wear them.

If you have never been inside the A. O. Smith plant, you have indeed missed something. There are magnificent machines, some three times as tall as their operator. The visitors watched as the huge presses turned flat metal into what would eventually be the frame for the family automobile.

As the families toured, employees pointed out some of the more interesting areas of the plant. At one point, a team of welders showed their stuff. It was not a formal demonstration, just part of the everyday activities.

The four men, each stationed at a corner of a gigantic machine, positioned a whole frame onto the machine and welded, each hitting his mark at almost the same instant. But they had been doing it for years. One was impressed by the teamwork displayed by the four.

The tour ended up in the second tent, where refreshments were served and folks took time to stop and chat and introduce the family. There was a feeling of companionship in that tent. It would seem that the people at A. O. Smith are proud of their plant.

It would also seem that A. O. Smith is proud of its people.

Senior citizens proud of athletic accomplishments

The third annual Illinois Senior Olympics held in Springfield attracted more than 250 senior athletes from all over Illinois, and several other states, to compete in a wide range of athletic events.

Forty-nine senior citizens from Southern Illinois participated in 28 different events and came away with a harvest of 77 medals, including 32 gold, 25 silver and 20 bronze.

Nancy C. Silvers, executive director of the Southern Illinois Area Agency on Aging (SWIAAOA), says participation by Southern Illinois seniors in the 1979 Illinois Senior Olympics was up sharply over last year. She attributes this in large part to the interest and excitement generated among seniors in this area by last June's SWIAAOA-sponsored Regional Senior Olympics.

Many of the 88 senior athletes who participated in the Regional Senior Olympics went on to compete in the Illinois Senior Olympics.

Southern Illinois' biggest winners in the 1979 Illinois Senior Olympics were the following gold medalists: James Bridwell of Edwardsville (sprint bike race high jump and running broad jump); Anne Broda of Collinsville (casting, and discus).

Philip Thiel of Collinsville (high jump, running broad jump, and discus); Virginia Thiel of Collinsville (shuttleboard and discus); John Shadowen of Collinsville (50 yard backstroke, 50 yard breaststroke, 50 yard freestyle, horseshoes, bowling, discus, running broad jump and standing broad jump).

August Luchsinger of Collinsville (bowling) Marie McClane of Belleville (badminton, horseshoes and tennis); Joe Van Vooren of Fairview Heights (1,650 yard freestyle).

Florence Hacker of Freeburg (tennis, badminton, shuttleboard, and table tennis); William Kohring of Coulterville (110 low hurdles); and Evelyn Cardinal of Brighton (basketball free throw, 50 yard dash, running broad jump and bowling).

SLASHED WITH KNIFE
Rickie Douthit, 25, Collinsville, suffered a cut to a wrist when he was slashed with a knife during a disturbance Thursday. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was released after sutures were applied.

Student housing, commuting needs

Major objectives of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in the months ahead were outlined last week by acting President Earl Lazerson in an address to the university's Industrial Advisory Council.

Lazerson said primary concerns in the immediate future will be:

1. Maintenance of a strong sense of continuity.
2. Seeking the best possible students and challenging them as forcefully as possible.

3. Providing better housing and transportation.

4. Encouraging opportunities for student financial aid and work experiences.

5. Improving public service endeavors.

6. Cooperation with other institutions in the region; and

7. Developing greater community support for the university and all of higher education.

Lazerson said the challenges of housing and transportation are crucial to the goals of the university.

"If we can't provide better housing and transportation, all of our other efforts are going to be seriously compromised," he warned.

"Better strategies for transportation, by car or by Bi-State, must be devised. One practical concern we must address immediately — as a matter which drastically affects the welfare of our region — is the pervasiveness of local political leaders that local revenues must be mustered. Or, mass transportation here will receive a serious setback," Lazerson declared.

In regard to housing, the acting president asked the Advisory Council for suggestions. He pointed out that a moratorium on state-supported housing, announced by the university two years ago, "has not brought private developers storming to our doors with an abundance of funds."

Lazerson declared that direct public service is a major objective of the institution.

"Public service at SIUE means not only consultant assistance based on substantive knowledge, but also cultural enrichment of the area, research applicable to local and regional problems, and availability of continuing education, both credit and non-credit, to satisfy vocational and avocational interests of area residents.

"Rather than being dismayed at the prospect of enrollment declines, I anticipate utilizing this circumstance to improve the university's public service endeavors."

Lazerson said SIUE will "aggressively pursue all these students who genuinely desire authentic university-level learning."

"Such students should be sufficient prize to push themselves — and the university — to the highest level of academic excellence."

"Additionally, we are going to seek to leave the traditionally accepted categories of college students, those between ages 17 and 22, with those who are now referred to as 'adult' learners."

In the area of financial aid and work experience, Lazerson called attention to the School of Business professional experience program, "which has done an outstanding job in attempting to assist our business students finance their education while simultaneously providing invaluable work experience."

He said the university intends to work intensively with the community colleges in assessing and strengthening their preparatory and general education components in an effort to improve program articulation and matriculation of students.

"As its leadership in area development and in the provision of assistance is extended and communicated to the citizenry of the region, SIUE in turn must merit support from that broad community," Lazerson said.

"Such support should be directed not only toward the programs at this university, but also toward efforts to solve the critical resource need facing all of higher education."

"It is my firm hope and deliberate intention that any changes that are initiated will be changes for the better particularly in terms of improved standards of performance in the academic area."

"As acting president, there is a legacy in policy and planning, born of the autonomous strength of the university, that I propose to invest with all the energy an insight at my command."

In conclusion, he quoted John F. Kennedy, who said: "I know no more than anyone else what the future is going to be like, but I do know that where we ought to be looking. We cannot become so worried about what we have to lose that we never begin to think about what is still to be gained."

Lazerson expressed appreciation to the Industrial Advisory Council and other support groups of the university and said, "With your abiding commitment, our future is not only feasible; it can be bright indeed."
